100 Books Before Graduation encourages you to read more by tracking the books you have to read alongside the books you want to read, and earning prizes along the way.

At the library, we want to promote reading and add another layer of motivation for you to explore your personal interests—to look beyond your school work and pursue reading things that interest you in your spare time.

Because reading is self-care. Reading can reduce stress. Reading helps us cope and plan and learn about who we are, and who we want to be. Reading moves us and connects us. And of course, reading educates us and makes us more likely to be successful in our careers or higher education later in life. With 100 Books Before Graduation, we hope to reward you for connecting with and learning about what interests you, right now.

Log 100 Books Before Graduation, no matter what kind of book, from textbooks to graphic novels. Read what you want, and earn rewards. To get started online, visit the website and follow the links to register.

100 books before GRADUATION

this log belongs to _____

A READING CHALLENGE FOR GRADES 6-12:

Read 100 BOOKS before you graduate from high school.

Read for fun. Read sci-fi. Read romance. Read fantasy. Read horror. Read history. Read manga. Read poetry. Read self-help. Above all, read with passion and joy.

Use this sheet to track your progress, and visit the website to log online.
